

narTcert MENTOR VOLUNTEERS

List updated on January 2, 2021

The role of the narTcert mentor is to advise the teacher in how to build and fly model rockets or on launch sites, rocketry vendors, or other general aspects of the hobby. Mentors may provide advice by phone, e-mail, or (at their discretion) in person. They are purely volunteers giving assistance on their own time out of their love for the sport.

Many of the mentors are members of local NAR clubs (sections) with launch facilities and may be able to assist with locating a place for a teacher to fly. They are also prime candidates to be the flight observer. If you need a mentor or observer and none is listed below in your area, consult the list of NAR sections on the NAR web page <http://www.nar.org/find-a-local-club/nar-club-locator/> and contact the nearest section; they will very likely be able to find someone to help.

If you would like to be a narTcert mentor and be added to this list, send your name, city, state and email address to education@nar.org with "narTcert mentor" in the subject line.
